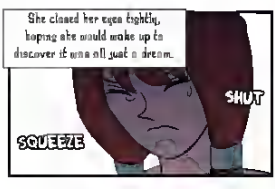
-As the darkness crept in,
Min Deul-le felt a strange sense of reality



She closed her eyes tightly, hoping she would wake up to discover it was all just a dream.

This was reality.
Her dark reality without a single foreseeable step.
Emptiness, anxiety, loneliness. They all gathered closer in this reality.

Translator's Note:

A quick Korean lesson for you guys. Before this chapter, Min Deul-ie was speaking jondaemal (존댓말) to Dorothy speaking formal or polite speech. It's where you add honorifics to show respect to your parents, boss, stranger, etc. It's very taboo to speak informally (친말, banmal) to someone you're meeting for the first time, even moreso if they are older than you. When Dorothy points out that Min Deul-ie has gotten ruder, Dorothy actually says, "Hey, didn't your sentences become shorter?" which makes sense because using jondaemal adds more length to sentences.
